

Bachelor of Science with a major in Human Services Administration

The Human Services Administration major prepares students to be a leader as you impact lives of individuals and communities. The online degree program emphasizes contemporary business issues related to the human and social services field while emphasizing the business sense and critical skills needed to manage an organization. Union's flexibility gives you the power to advance your career.

Human Services Administration

Students majoring in Human Services Administration will develop knowledge and skills preparing them for a variety of careers in the social services and human services field. At Union, we will show you how to become a flexible and resilient administrator in state agencies, counseling centers, and community based for-profit and non-profit organizations delivering social services.

Human Services Administration graduates will be able to:

- Apply human and social services related skills in a professional context while thinking critically about obstacles and solutions from a leadership perspective in the human services field
- Compare and contrast leadership and management theories, concepts and practices to promote business ethics, values, and integrity in human services
- Analyze the impact that change has on organizational development, organizational culture, and employee behavior in cross-cultural and global environments
- Evaluate how strategic planning affects an organization's socially responsible and sustainability initiatives.

Core Courses include:

- Management of Financial Resources
- Leadership: Global and Diverse Perspectives
- Organizational Behavior and Culture
- Social and Ethical Issues in Human Services Administration
- Strategic Management and Business Policy in Human Services Administration (Capstone)

Careers in Human Services Administration

- Social services administration
- Public administration
- Education outreach
- Long term care facilities
- Addiction program administration
- Behavioral health program administration

Transfer Credits

At Union we know your technology training in your field has prepared you for our program. A minimum of 16 credits in an allied health related field of study is required to be transferred for students in this major. Union allows students to transfer up to 90 total credits including technical credits, credits for military training, and lifelong learning credits that can be earned through an evaluation. Our generous transfer credit is just one of the ways Union is built for you.

Financial Aid available to those who qualify | Recognized as a Military Friendly School

Our Mission

Union Institute & University educates highly motivated adults who seek academic programs to engage, enlighten, and empower them to pursue professional goals and a lifetime of learning, service, and social responsibility.

www.myunion.edu/bs-hsa